

Machine Learning Basics

Machine Learning is a subset of Artificial Intelligence that enables systems to learn from data.

Supervised Learning uses labeled data.

Unsupervised Learning finds patterns in unlabeled data.

Reinforcement Learning learns through rewards and penalties.

Common algorithms include Linear Regression, Logistic Regression, Decision Trees, Random Forests, and Neural Networks.